The opinions (if any) expressed herein, are not necessarily those of The Campbell Press.

Pet peeve of the week came yesterday when Eleanor (My Day) Roosevelt announced she was "astonished and saddened" because so few Republicans applauded the President's remarks to congress Monday.

Several legislators took exception to Mrs. Roosevelt's statement. Representative Taber, Rep., N. Y., said he did not applaud the President because he did not trust him. This was, by and large, the attitude of most "non-applauders." Edith N. Rogers, Rep., Mass., saw it in a different light. Said she: "The only legislative bodies which must applaud the utterances of the 'head man' are found today in Germany, Italy and Russia."

Doubtless the President's message was inspiring enough to those who see eye to eye with him, and it was doubtless delivered in the suave and convincing Roosevelt manner. But the failure (on the part of many Republicans) to applaud, was occasioned by a deep distrust of his motives—a distrust quite solidly founded on past performances.

A vast amount of this distrust is occasioned by the President's reluctance to name an absolute head of the commission directing the defense armament program—an indication of his unwillingness to relinquish one bit of authority into the hands of another. His failure to appoint such a head has resulted in the "bogging down" of the entire program and, if the situation is not soon remedied, may well cost England the war.

And so, if Mrs. Roosevelt feels badly about the current lack of applause, she might use her influence, if she has any, to urge upon the President a course which would easily restore to him the great confidence of all Americans—a confidence that has been steadily dwindling since his first "100 great days."

Campbell high students had best look to their laurels: "For years we've gotten our best students from out at Campbell high school, but this year the top students are from San Jose high." So spoke Dr. Victor Peterson, science department head at San Jose State college, who awarded twelve of the 31 A's in freshman science to San Jose high alumni. No school, of course, can always be "first." And the record of achievement of Campbell alumni seems to indicate that another year may again find local boys and girls topping the lists at State.

The annual dinner and business meeting of the Congregational church scheduled for Wednesday, was postponed until next Wednesday, Jan. 15, at 6:30 p. m.

Grammar P.T.A. Plans Card Party For January 16

A card party to be given Thursday evening, Jan. 16 is the project for the Campbell Union Grammar School P.T.A. this month. It will be held at the school at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Gagliasso is the chairman, assisted by the following committee: Mrs. David Ribble, Mrs. Clarence Warren, Mrs. Edward Benesch, Mrs. Anthony Jurras, Mrs. Oliver Jensen, Mrs. A. W. Wellington and Mrs. Homer Hall.

At the regular January meeting of the P.T.A., Mrs. W. F. Grattan, the president, presided. She gave an interesting report of the sixth district meeting which she attended in San Jose, Dec. 6.

Mrs. Homer Hall, membership chairman, reported that there are 220 members and thanked the teachers and children who helped with the membership drive. Mrs. Sourisseau's room won the first prize in the upper grades with Mrs. Stuart's room second. Mrs. Davidson's room won the first prize in the lower grades with Mrs. Singleton's room second.

Mrs. Anthony Jurras, study group chairman, announced that the study group would meet this Friday, Jan. 10, as usual. Members are urged to attend as the meetings are very interesting.

Mrs. Ray Wood, chairman of the by-law committee made some recommendations for improving the by-laws, making them more nearly

"Chinese Architecture" Interesting Topic At Monday's Club Meeting

Mrs. J. D. Blaine served as chairman for the program given at the Country Woman's club meeting on Monday. Assisting her were the Mesdames G. E. Farley, S. N. Hedegard, W. C. Bohnett, R. H. Hyde and E. P. Brandenburg. The topic of the day was "Chinese Architecture."

The club rooms were beautifully decorated with large bouquets of greens and flat arrangements of Chinese lilies and winter blooming iris. Unusual and beautiful Oriental containers were used.

The program was opened with community singing under the capable leadership of Mrs. Ralph Hyde. The singing was accompanied by Miss Emily Bohnett, who also played two portions of the Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikowsky, "Chinese Dance" and "The Dance of the Flutes."

Mrs. J. D. Blaine read portions of Florence Ayscough's "Chinese Mirrors." These parts told of the ceremonies and detail involved in the raising and building of a Chinese house.

Miss Dorothea Madsen was guest speaker of the afternoon. Miss Madsen first became interested in China when she worked under Miss Donaldenna Cameron in San Francisco's China Town. In speaking of the Chinese people Miss Madsen said, "They are the most sincere people I know, and when they say they will do something they will go to all lengths to fulfill that promise." She told of a poor old Chinese gentleman who walked several miles in a cold rain at night to deliver a package at the time he had told her he would be there.

Several years ago Miss Madsen visited China and spent several weeks in and near Shanghai and Hong Kong. It is difficult to describe the architecture of China as each part of the country has a different type and these forms are changed to fit individual tastes and requirements.

Miss Madsen described the beauty of the Chinese countryside that spring—great fields of mustard, meadows of primroses and violets, budding trees. "Wherever I went the scenery of China was beautiful," she said. "That was before the war."

In closing her fascinating talk, the speaker exhibited several photographs, dolls, and a lovely kimono which she had brought back from her travels in the Orient.

In opening the business meeting President Mrs. Wyland R. Morgan gave a short inspirational New Years talk and welcomed back new members and old from the holiday vacation.

Mrs. H. J. Smith announced that all members are invited to aid the Red Cross. The ladies meet every Friday afternoon in the clubrooms.

Next meeting of the Campbell Country Woman's club will be held on Jan. 20, with Mrs. Lloyd Selig as program chairman. There will be a speaker upon the topic of "Chinese Theaters." Mrs. Morgan requested that all standing committees meet that afternoon at 2:00 in the clubrooms.

Mrs. Lena French of Pacific Grove is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. D. Blaine and family and will remain for several days longer.

Mrs. Lilian Voigt arrived home Saturday after spending the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. William Canfield and family in Glen Ellyn, Ill.

Services for Charles Baird Held Monday

Morning Light Lodge, No. 42, I. O. O. F. was in charge of funeral rites held Monday afternoon in Los Gatos for Charles Preston Baird, who entered into rest Friday, Jan. 3, at his home here. Mrs. Arch G. Johnson was organist for the services.

The number of friends assembled to pay their last respects evidenced the regard in which he was held by residents of Campbell and Los Gatos where he had lived just before coming here to enter business.

Mr. Baird was born in Napa county Dec. 25, 1873 but made his home in Santa Cruz for 25 years and then in Los Gatos for ten years where he engaged in contract building.

The past eight years was spent in Campbell where he and his wife conducted a cafe and ice cream factory until his complete failure of health necessitated retiring.

He was a member of Santa Maria Lodge, No. 302, I. O. O. F. of Santa Maria, Calif.

He leaves his widow, Harriet E. Baird; a son, Gene P. Baird of Los Gatos; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara June Trowbridge of Yuba City, and an infant grandson, Gene Preston Baird, Jr.

W. O. Bruegge, Mayland Phillips, William Rice, William Bachman, Julius Bachman and Hans E. Hansen served as pall bearers. Interment was in Los Gatos cemetery.

Miss Lois Rice Becomes Bride of Frederick Burke

The marriage of Frederick D. Burke and Miss Lois Rice was solemnized at high noon Sunday in the Methodist church with Rev. John M. Brunswick performing the ceremony.

The church was decorated with a profusion of winter greenery, and heather, and lighted with white tapers.

Mrs. Brunswick played the wedding march and Ivalin and Susann Travers a violin duet.

The bride who had chosen a spring suit with black accessories and a corsage of orchids was given away by her father.

Mrs. Henry James Quirke of San Jose was her sister's matron of honor and her gown was green crepe, with black accessories and a gardenia corsage. Mr. K. Travers of San Francisco served the groom as best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Rice of Rincon avenue for the wedding party and out of town guests.

The bridal couple left later in the day for San Francisco where they will make their

Local Co-op Lauded; to Be Enlarged

Reports of the years' work and financial standing of the Campbell Cooperative dehydrator were praised by D. G. White, representative of the Berkeley Bank for Cooperatives at the annual meeting of the Co-op held Tuesday evening in the Campbell Grammar school.

White stated that owing to the fine standing of the company's finances and its efficient management, the bank was more than pleased to advance money for the proposed $35,000 enlargement program.

This expansion includes the construction of two new four-tunnel buildings, a 500-ton capacity warehouse, a dipper and a grader. Between $25,000 and $27,000 will be borrowed to help finance the program, to be repaid over a period of seven years.

The present membership of 96 will be extended by admission from a waiting list of 30, orchardists producing 2000 tons, which the increased capacity will make possible.

G. K. Schrader, manager, stated that Feb. 15 is the deadline for application for new memberships.

The election of officers resulted in the return of the entire corps, Stanley Smith, president; Robert Scholz, vice-president; David A. Sanders, secretary. Of the other directors, M. S. Keesling was also re-elected, and E. K. Clendening replaced A. N. Lantz.

Doris Jeanne Smith has returned to San Francisco after spending a two weeks vacation with her mother, Mrs. W. B. Smith on South Third street. Doris is starting her second year of nurses training at St. Marys.

Campbell Congregational Guild is meeting today for the first time in 1941 and is making it the occasion for a pot luck luncheon at 1 o'clock members of group 2 making the necessary arrangements as hostesses.

Mrs. Burke was educated in the Campbell schools, San Jose State college and Heald's Business college. She was employed in the local telephone office, and later spent some months in Toledo, Ohio, where she had a position in the office of one of the city's major creameries. For the past three years she has been receptionist and desk clerk at the Residence Club of the Y. W. C. A. in San Francisco.

Mr. Burke is employed in San Francisco and also attending the S. F. Junior college.

Saturday evening preceding the wedding, the bride's mother was hostess at a wedding dinner for the bridal party and visiting relatives.

THE PEOPLE'S DOLLAR

It is in keeping with the plain old law of supply and demand that the American press gives far more front page space to news on national and local finance than was given a generation ago. A generation ago such news was restricted to the financial page in the back of the paper—while today changes in prices, in public borrowings, in treasury statements and international exchange, are of general interest. Since 1900, America's population has increased 60 per cent—but in that time the number of persons owning life insurance policies has increased 650 per cent to a total of 65,000,000! More than 40,000,000 citizens now have a stake in Social Security Act benefits and 44,000,000 have savings accounts. Thus by tens of millions Americans have become capitalists in the true sense of the word—with personal interest in the maintenance of our economic system on a solid basis, and with a direct stake in the soundness of our currency and financial institutions. So the Almighty Dollar is mightier than ever. It's moved out to the front page because it commands a front page audience. It isn't just Wall street's dollar nowadays. It's the people's dollar.

ENEMIES WITHIN

It is not alone in great air fleets, nor in the munitions of war that our American homeland can, and must be, defended.

There are enemies within the gates that cannot be wiped out with the weapons of warfare. To these, Chief Justice Hughes referred the other day in speaking of "rancor and bigotry, racial animosities and intolerance as the deadly enemies of true democracy." Those who promote such feelings not only violate the very spirit of democracy but, wittingly or unwittingly are endangering the nation's security in a critical period. No nation can be strong if it is divided by rancor and bigotry. It is for this very reason that the enemies of democracy have always so sedulously sought to stir up internal strife and intolerance in the countries they sought to conquer—a nation split by dissension makes an easy victim!

In his astute comment, Chief Justice Hughes pointed out that "liberty cannot be conserved by majority rule unless the majority hold sacred basic individual rights regardless of race or creed, so that, along with out differences of view, political and religious, we have a deep and abiding sense of human dignity and worth."

To continue to hold sacred these basic individual rights is to make secure the bastions of America's internal defenses.

TOURIST GOLD

Even though the turning of the year casts Californians' thoughts toward the months ahead, the year-end settling of "tourists' accounts" by Californians, Inc., has turned up with cheering news worth notice. During the 382 days in which the Golden Gate Exposition was in operation in 1939 and 1940, tourist travel in all of California reached an all-time high. Specifically, 2,530,643 tourists visited California, and spent more than $328 million during those two periods in which the Treasure Island turnstiles were clicking. A fortunate California not only

THERE'S MUSIC IN OUR AIR

No matter who wins in the Battle of the Mike now raging between the ASCAP and the BMI, rivals for control of musical entertainment on the air, California may remain an interested neutral—like a boy at a rousing dog fight. It's something to watch—and we can't lose. Since the advent of the talking picture, with theme songs and musical comedies, Hollywood has become the Mecca of the world's famed tunesmiths. From Broadway, from Buenos Aires, from the banks of the Danube they have flocked—the Irving Berlins, Jerome Kerns, Sigmund Rombergs, Wolfe Gilberts and Walter Donaldsons of the world. Whether it comes from a juke box, phonograph, radio or movie sound track—California music dominates the air, no matter where it's heard or who plays it. We make only our share of the nation's laws, perhaps—but we turn out the songs that it sings.

THE LADIES RETURN

The ladies are staging a comeback. This year in politics, they're going to have a bigger say in framing the laws of the nation and of the states.

The entrance of women into our embattled political arenas has not yet achieved any marked fruition of politics, as was fondly hoped by the militant early day suffragettes. Yet were Susan B. Anthony, Frances E. Willard and other valiant fighters for women's freedom present in our midst today, they might claim, and with justice, too, that this is so only because women have not yet entered politics to any great extent. It is also true that women voters do not yet rally, as a rule, around women candidates. If they did, our roster of women representatives in Congress and at Sacramento would undoubtedly be much higher than it is now.

However, New England may be turning the tide in this direction. No other section of the country has come anywhere near equalling the number of political victories scored by women in those states at the November polls. To the state legislatures of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont alone, a total of 67 women legislators were elected in the last election. California elected two.

Meanwhile, the opening session of Congress last week found 140 new women representatives present in the House, and nine in the Senate—a total gain of eight seats in Congress over 1938.

Surely, if slowly, the ladies are adding to the size of their political forces. It would be a brash man who claimed their political sun is setting.

THEY PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE

To a Michigan judge must go credit for having solved the apparently insoluble—the conflict between children of members of Jehovah's Witnesses and schoolboards who have been horrified at these children's refusal to salute the flag. These youngsters are not enemies of the republic their parents simply take literally the Biblical injunction against bowing down before any image or emblem. Hence, they refuse to salute the American or any other flag. The Michigan judge proposed that 19 children brought before him in such a case simply give an oral pledge of allegiance to the United States instead of the salute. His suggestion was accepted by both sides. We trust his statesmanlike solution will be practiced elsewhere.

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Mindful of the fact that World War No. 1 spawned a startling succession of political scandals—ships which wouldn't float, planes which cracked up in mid-air, and conscienceless profiteering—responsible leaders in both Congress and the state legislature are planning to subject national defense proposals to the most rigid scrutiny.

Several skillfully-camouflaged bills which have been dumped into the legislative hoppers at Washington and Sacramento have been spotted already as schemes to exploit the national defense program for private gain—and numerous other measures are being carefully checked for jokers.

There is grave danger, however, according to legislative leaders, that in certain instances costly projects which have no actual place in the defense program, will ride through as emergency measures, with the taxpayers left holding the bag.

Lobbyists for commercial highway carriers, for example, have submitted a program to Congress purporting to show that four billion dollars will be required immediately to build highways for national defense purposes.

California's part of this "emergency" road building program would cost $504 million or $73.32 per capita, while as a matter of fact this state's highway system is entirely adequate to meet defense requirements, except possibly for the construction of a few additional laterals tying up with army cantonments.

On the other hand, legitimate defense projects, urgently needed if the country is to achieve adequate preparedness are pending in both Congress and the Legislature. And the task, which confronts the lawmakers is one of sifting the wheat from the chaff and giving priority to the projects which are of most vital concern to the national welfare.

Parent-Teacher Group Discusses Behavior Codes

The Campbell Union High School P-T. A. met in the little theater of the school, Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 8 with the president, Mrs. F. A. Jacobson presiding over the business meeting. Mrs. Howard Smith in charge of the social hour and Mrs. Ray Packer, chairman of the day.

During the business meeting plans were made and committees appointed to take charge of the Student-Alumni-Parent dance to be held in the school gymnasium, Thursday evening, Jan. 23, and an evening card party scheduled for Feb. 8. Money was voted to the "glasses fund," welfare project of the P-T. A. and a committee appointed to investigate the proposed major project of the year, the purchase of a curtain for the stage of the little theater, where the P-T. A. meetings are held.

Music for the afternoon was furnished by the vocal sextette of the school and Josephine Barbano, soprano, soloist, also a student.

The five-minute talk from the faculty was given by D. H. Cramer, mathematics instructor, his topic being "Proper Conditions for Home Work," during which he gave his listeners some very good suggestions to follow in arranging for this necessary co-operation between home and school.

The feature of the afternoon was a lively panel discussion between Mrs. Ray Packer, Mrs. Anthony Juras, Mrs. E. E. Coonrad, Mrs. William Kittrell and Mrs. Elfrieda Runge, school nurse. The topic was "Home Codes of Behavior" and much to the amusement and entertainment of their listeners, they compared modern youth guidance and that of past generations at the same time bringing out many points of great interest and real value in their arguments.

The next meeting of the unit will be the annual Founder's Day celebration to be held jointly with the Grammar School P-T. A. in their school auditorium on Feb. 12.

Basketball Season To Open Jan. 18

The 1941 basketball season will get underway Jan. 18, when the locals meet Watsonville High school, at Watsonville. This non-league game will probably be a good indication of Campbell's chances in league competition this year.

The local experts' predictions favor Campbell High's 130's to cop the league title for the second consecutive year. Bases for the predictions are centered around two veterans of last years outstanding unit: George Silva and Bennie Carvelho; combined with three promising players from the 120's in Phil Griffin, Danver Miranda, and Duane Mondo.

Official league competition begins Jan. 17, but Campbell's quintets have a bye the first week and go into action a week later, playing Los Gatos whose 130's are also defiant contenders for the title.

Campbell's varsity, with a returning team of veterans, form a promising unit which should go far in competition. Last years varsity finished in second place with six wins and two losses.

The Footlighters will meet Tuesday evening, Jan. 14 in regular session in the hall in the B. O. Curry building, with Archie Keesling, president, presiding. All members are urged to be present for the initiation of new members and the selection of a play.

Fire Destroys Cannery Cabin

The volunteers of Campbell Fire department were called out Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a fire of unknown origin in cabin one in the old Hyde cannery camp on Centavenues.

The occupants of the cabin Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Hornback and three children were not in the house at the time but thought the fire had started in the bedroom. Very little, except clothing, was saved out of the cabin. Cabin two, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dennis, was also badly burned. The rear wall of the Charles Sanchez home was scorched and only the quick and efficient work of the fire boys saved the buildings from greater damage.

The cabins in the tract are now the property of Bill Montague, who purchased them some time ago.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Perhaps you remember "Grapes of Wrath." Perhaps you remember "Factories in the Field"—and all the other diatribes, uttered and written, against California farmers because California agriculture couldn't absorb and provide jobs for all the migrants from the Dust Bowl and points middle-west.

During the hectic period when that lurid literature was achieving its greatest circulation, California's rural areas took a beating on almost every newsstand in America. The Communists broke into print with rabid denunciations of the "land barons," who refused to part with a few acres for the destitute Joads and their families. The LaFollette committee conducted an "investigation"—and denounced the Associated Farmers of California, the American Legion, township officers and all and sundry for failing in hospitality to the nomads from Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and every other dust-ridden point of the compass.

Nearly 800,000 itinerant farmers and farm hands poured into California in a few years, all seeking sustenance, and California agriculture was roundly denounced because it couldn't absorb them. Novels were written on the subject; moving pictures were produced; congressional committees were convened—and California farmers were depicted to the nation as heartless industrialists, who lived on the fat of the land, but were blind to the sufferings of their fellowmen.

That was a year, or two years ago, and there is irony in the fact, perhaps, that the shoe is now on the other foot. The great metropolitan areas of the United States—Detroit and Los Angeles, Chicago and New York, Pittsburg and Cleveland—now have their migrant problem, due to the fact that the national defense program has concentrated attention on the big industrial cities of America.

If an aircraft factory has need of 2,000 men, 50,000 suddenly appear and camp nearby. If an automotive factory, turned into a parts factory for war purposes, needs 5,000 men, three times that number suddenly encamp around it. And as a consequence, the migrant problem—while still a serious problem in many rural areas—is also becoming a serious problem in urban America.

In Washington Mrs. Roosevelt tells an investigating committee it is a shame that labor unions have such high initiation fees that migrant workers can't possibly qualify for jobs in defense industries. In other cities, majors and supervisors announce that the labor market already is glutted—and that itinerant workers should look elsewhere.

And on the outskirts of great cities, there are itinerant camps and Hoovervilles, just as there are—and have been—in rural California all through the depression.

No one has sympathized more with the victims of the Dust Bowl, or the unemploylike the model by-laws suggested by the sixth district. These recommendations were accepted.

Money was allowed to help with the Christmas entertainment for the school, also for the low eighth grade's reception to the graduating eighth grade.

Mrs. Esther Short, school nurse, was chairman of the program. She introduced Miss Marjorie Nelson, dental hygienist, who explained what the dental hygienist does in the schools and why. She presented an interesting and instructive moving picture on the structure of the teeth and the order in which they develop in the child.

Mrs. A. J. Kennedy of the Goodwill Industry spoke on the need of old clothes and household things with which to give employment to handicapped people. She also presented a movie of the work.

Refreshments were enjoyed during the social hour with mothers and teachers of the 6th grades as hostesses. Miss Ora Jasper's room won the room prize for having the most parents at the meeting.

World's Wealthiest Man

The nizam of Hyderabad, who has $500,000,000 in gold, $2,000,000,000 in jewels and an income of $50,000,000 a year, is probably the wealthiest man in the world.

ed—desperately seeking employment—than California farmers. And no one has pleaded more in Washington for a square deal for the migrants than California farmers. But until the last few weeks, Washington turned a deaf ear. Washington contented itself with condemning California—because California, as Washington viewed it, had failed to take care of the migrants.

Now, the problem is nation-wide. Now the great cities of the country are demanding aid in coping with the migrant problem. And now, perhaps, Congress will provide relief—will recognize that no section, and no class of people, can possibly solve a national problem. There is reason for this change in attitude. The reason is that America's great cities, as well as its agricultural areas, are demanding federal action.

California agriculture still has its migrant problem—and will still have it for many years to come. There are still tens of thousands of unemployed in rural California, all in desperate need of work and food and clothing. But at least, California agriculture will have friends in court when it cries out for federal aid in solving the migrant problem. And perhaps it won't be pilloried for insisting that it is a national problem.
